

A Carson Man's Idea of a Puff.

"What do you mean by that?" was the sharp inquiry of a well-known business man of Ormsby County, who bounced into the editorial rooms of one of the leading Carson dailies with a copy of the paper in his hand: "Is that your idea of a local notice? Read it!"

A ghastly reporter sadly hung his shears on the well-worn rack, tremblingly put away the oyster can which answered as a paste pot, and, in a weak voice, read:

"THE YEARNING FOR THE INFINITE."

"From the days of Father Adam, when the golden glories of Eden made life to him one round of airy, undressed freedom, down through the ages, man has ever yearned for a nobler, grander life; for an unfettered existence far from the grinding cares of daily toil in a railroad-ridden community. This sentiment, so universal, is based upon a want of poor, imperfect, human nature. But there is a yearning stronger than this, based on an elementary foundation, and that is the craving for at least three square meals a day. Would you live cheaply, yet on fare fit for the lesser gods or even for Olympian Zeus himself? Trade with Cheesemite & Co., practical grocers."

"Well," snarled the visitor, "what kind of stuff is that for which I just paid five cents a line? Call that a business notice?"

"What could be more chaste or attractive?" murmured the reporter. "It is classical, entertaining and gradually works up the unsuspecting readers' interest until the ingenious finale. What more natural than for its perusal to be immediately followed by a grand rush for your groceries, which," added the deprecating journalist desperately, "are well known to be equaled by a few and excelled by none."

"Bah!" snorted the grocer. "I don't want nothin' of the kind—won't have it. Here, I've written out something that'll catch the eye and hit 'em hard. Put that in word for word." And he went out with a vicious slam.

Following is the notice in question, which was published with a paralyzing effect on Carson's community:

WAR TO THE KNIFE.

A boomerang in groceries! Tremendous smash in prices! Cheesemite & Co. are knocking things! Eggs, 17 dozen for $1, delivered free of charge to all points within a radius of 150 miles! Butter given away! Flour! Sugar! and Broom Handles! at your Own Price! Soft Soap, five cents a quart!!! Anti-corrosive whiskey drawn from kegs with glass faucets, 50 cents per gallon! A chrome to every purchaser! Don't trade nowhere else! If you go across the way you'll be POISONED!!! Beware of our rivals! They can't be trusted. Three ladies and a small boy fainted away in Eiggins & Bile's grocery yesterday! The smell of the decayed goods laid 'em out cold. Cheesemite & Co. take the cake! Remember the old stand! Right's right and hurts no man. Call early and often. The Chinese must go. Terms cash or six months' credit. No discrimination against State officers or railroad men. A man can trade with us as well as a child. Respectfully, the public's obedient servants. CHEESEMITE & CO!!!

Lonely Lamps at Sea.

The illuminated buoy is a wonderful invention. Imagine an enormous lamp riding the waves. The buoy is a compact wrought-iron vessel, which serves as a receiver of compressed gas. The duration of the flame depends upon the size of the buoy. Some in use in Europe have been made to burn thirty days and some one hundred and twenty days. It is said that a buoy of sufficient size will contain gas enough to furnish the light for one year. During that time the flame is steady and constant night and day, requiring no attention whatever after once put in operation. The lantern attached to the buoy admits air enough to feed the flame, but not a particle of water can enter.

The most violent gales, the greatest force of the waves, submerging even beneath them, has no effect upon this light. It burns with undimmed brightness as long as gas is in its reservoir. The light, it is said, can be thrown six or seven miles in clear weather. Salty deposits are not made on the glass of the lanterns, as has been demonstrated. The refilling of the buoy at certain intervals is performed by a tender and requires but a few minutes' time. It is done by passing the gas from a store holder, which contains the gas compressed to ten atmospheres, by means of a flexible tube into the buoy to a pressure of six atmospheres.

BATCHELDER'S Ventilated Egg Case.

Patented February 15, 1881.

Indispensable to Merchants Shippers And Producers.

The outside frame of this carrier contains five trays, held in place by fasteners at end of case, as seen in cut. These Trays are constructed in reversible halves. The above cut shows one whole tray filled ready to be placed in case, each egg resting in its cardboard socket in such a manner as to be readily counted, candled, or transferred from tray to tray, or case to case, without rehandling.

For cold storage this case will store 60 dozen with racks made to receive the half trays, hence this is the cheapest storage case manufactured, saving largely in space.

The manner of holding the eggs on end prevents oscillation, adding, or breaking, and adds greatly to their freshness when carried long in storage. Size of 30 dozen No. 1 cases 25x12x14, weighs 20 pounds.
